

Linn Wiley Named Distinguished Banker of the Year By the California Bankers Association

February 12, 2010

ONTARIO, Calif.--(BUSINESS WIRE)-- Linn Wiley, Vice Chairman and former President and CEO of Citizens Business Bank (1991-2006), was named Distinguished Banker of the Year by the California Bankers Association. The award was presented at the Annual California Bank Presidents Seminar in Santa Barbara, California.

Linn began his banking career in 1964 with First Western Bank and Trust in Los Angeles. First Western Bank was acquired by Lloyds Bank California in 1974. There, he served in several capacities, including Senior Vice President and Director of Marketing, Regional Vice President for Northern California, and as Executive Vice President of the Banking Division.

He became President and CEO of American National Bank in 1983, where he successfully grew the bank from $400 million in assets to $1.0 billion in assets in 1990. At that time, the bank was sold to Wells Fargo Bank for 3.3 times tangible book value. He was appointed Executive Vice President and Division Manager of the Inland Valley Division for Wells Fargo Bank.

In 1991, Linn joined CVB Financial Corp and Citizens Business Bank as President and CEO. He led the bank from $512 million in assets to more than $6 billion in assets, and earnings from less than $7 million to more than $70 million during his 15 years in the position. During his 15-year tenure, CVB Financial Corp and Citizens Business Bank received several awards and recognition. These include:

- "Super Premier Performing Bank" award by Findley Reports for 15 consecutive years
- KBW Honor Roll Award from 2001-2005
- Sandler O'Neill All Star Award
- Fox-Pitt, Kelton Honor Roll Award
- Named to "America's Finest Companies" investment directory. One of 318 out of 19,000 U.S. public companies
- "Market Cap Champion Award" presented by the California Bankers Association and Carpenter & Company for achieving the highest return to original shareholders in the history of banking in California

In addition to his work, Linn served on several professional organizations.

- Director of California Bankers Association 1995-2006, serving as Vice President from 1995-1998
- Chairman of California Bankers Association's Government Relations Council 2000-2002
- Member of the American Bankers Association Government Relations Council 2001-2006
- Served on the Los Angeles Board of the San Francisco Federal Reserve Bank 2000-2006
- Member of Visa International Marketing Committee 1986-1989

Linn also received several awards for his involvement in the banking industry and the community.

- Silver CEO Award - Financial World Magazine
- Outstanding Marine in Business Award
- Distinguished Executive Award - California State University, San Bernardino
- Good Scout of the Year Award - Boy Scouts of America
